

DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS
PROVIDING FREE STUDY MATERIAL

Objective of the practice:

- To encourage the students to learn the concepts and enhance their knowledge.
- To help the students who belongs to underprivileged sections.
- To increase the interest on subject.
- To improve the Pass percentage in the subject.
- To reduce the financial burden on student.

The Context:

The Department of Economics is established in the year 1966. It has been felt that providing study material generally assists the students to enhance their learning process. Therefore, the Department has taken an initiative to provide study material at free of cost to the students who are coming from Rural and poor Financial background.

Practice:

- The Department provides the semester wise material to the regular students and also to the backlog students.
- Study material helps the student to a better interpretation of the concepts, contents as well as the subject matter.
- Students are utilizing the study materials to complete their Assignments and preparing for Examinations.

Evidence of success:

- Student's interest on subject has increased.
- Study Material has written by senior faculty members in a simplest way to understand the subject to slow learners.
- Pass percentage has increased slightly.

Problems encountered and Resources required:

- Providing study material to all the students became difficult because of having limited resources.